PROJECT PROPERTY – FULL RENOVATION REQUIRED

Offered to the market in very poor condition throughout, this mid-terraced period home is strictly for buyers who are ready to take on a serious renovation project. This is not a cosmetic update — the property requires a complete overhaul from top to bottom, making it ideal for seasoned investors, developers, or buyers looking for a full-scale refurbishment.

The key selling point is the location, positioned centrally between Stockton Town Centre and Norton High Street, offering excellent access to local amenities, transport links, and schools. For those prepared to put in the work, the potential lies firmly in the size, layout, and traditional character typical of these homes.

Internally, the accommodation is tired and dated throughout, with clear signs that extensive modernisation is required. The bay-fronted living room opens into a dining area, providing a good footprint for reconfiguration if desired, while the kitchen sits to the rear. To the first floor, there are three bedrooms and a bathroom, all of which require significant improvement. Externally, there is a rear yard.

This property represents a blank canvas for those willing to get their hands dirty and unlock its potential.
